Make it simple. Allocate money for each school just like other programs do. The Internet is vital to learning.